

Enthusiastic Meeting Endorses Mayor Pattinson and Citizens Slate for Monday's Elections

Volunteers Come Forward to Work—Voters Urged to Go to Poll Early on Election Day.

Pledging their support to Mayor Pattinson and the solid ticket endorsed as the Citizens slate for Monday's elections for mayor, councillors and school trustees, an enthusiastic meeting in which was represented all sections of the community organized on Wednesday evening to conduct a vigorous campaign right up till the close of the polls.

The candidature of the following was unanimously endorsed: For mayor, George Pattinson, present mayor.

For councillors, Fred Antrobus and Frank Serak, present councillors, and W. H. Haysom.

For school trustees, George Hope, present trustee, and James Naylor.

Alex. M. Morrison as chairman urged support of these candidates against those nominated by the Workers Unity League supporters. Coleman ratepayers would not stand for interference of outside organizers of revolutionary cliques, and Monday's election should show a united front in support of those candidates who stood for the maintenance of the laws of not only our civic administration but the country at large.

Mayor Pattinson stated that for several years the town had been in debt, having to borrow large sums to carry on. This year's balance sheet, in spite of hard times and money spent in relief, showed a substantial cash balance in the bank to meet emergency calls during the coming year, and the council had dealt fairly and impartially with every applicant for relief, no matter what his local political affiliations may have been.

He also pointed out that with a revision of the franchise due in June with Coleman Light & Water Co., it was necessary that men of experience be elected who had knowledge of civic problems.

Jas. M. Allan, chairman of school trustees, spoke in support of Candidates Hope and Naylor.

Committees were appointed to complete organization and car owners and scrutineers volunteered to work on election day. A meeting to complete arrangements is called for 4.30 p.m. Sunday afternoon, in the Community hall.

Complete List of Nominations

Nominations for municipal elections on Monday, Feb. 12, were as follows:

All men are welcome to the club.

DEATH CAME TO MRS.

J. WOOD ON FEB. 1ST

The funeral service for Mary Ann, beloved wife of Mr. Jack Wood, formerly of Coleman, but latterly of Vancouver, was held on Sunday, Feb. 4th, at St. Alban's church, Rev. A. S. Partington, B.A., officiating. The service was fully choral, favorite hymns of the deceased being sung.

Death occurred on Feb. 1, about 6 p.m., coming as a surprise to many of her friends in town. For many years Mr. and Mrs. Wood lived here. Mr. Wood being local manager for P. Burns Ltd., and about two years ago on the branch closing they moved to Vancouver. She was 49 years of age, and was born in Wingate, England.

Last November Mrs. Wood came to visit her daughter, Mrs. Sitt, and son Edward, and a week or two ago was admitted to hospital to undergo an operation. She appeared to be making progress, when early on Thursday she began to sink and Mr. Wood was wired for. He did not reach here till Saturday morning, Dr. Lillie and some intimate friends driving to Macleod to meet the train to break the sad news.

Deceased had been a prominent member of the Pythian Sisters some years ago. The casket was borne by members of Summit Lodge, A.F. and A.M., viz.: James Ford, W. L. Rippon, Frank G. Creaggen, J. Emmerston, H. W. Garner and John Rushton of the Knights of Pythias. Several friends came in from Fernie to attend the funeral, and many floral tributes were sent by fraternal organizations and friends.

Oct. 25-26-27 Set For C.N.P. Musical Festival, Blairmore

Territory Extended This Year East to Medicine Hat, North to Vulcan

The executive committee of Crow's Nest Pass Musical Festival confirmed the dates for this year's festival, October 25-27, and appointed a Royal W. Gibson of Winnipeg as adjudicator. Territory from which entries may be received includes all towns between Cranbrook, B.C., and Medicine Hat, and north to Vulcan. The syllabus will be issued by the end of February, states Mrs. J. H. Farmer, secretary, Blairmore.

Present at Tuesday's meeting in the Greenhill hotel, Blairmore, were H. T. Hillwell, president; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Morgan and Miss Chardon, Blairmore; W. H. Harris, Coleman; Dr. Blair Rose, W. H. Moser and W. Beynon, Hillcrest; Mrs. J. H. Farmer, secretary; and J. R. Upton, vice-president.

"THE BONNIE BRIER BUSH" AT COMMUNITY HALL, FEB. 21st.

The dramatic critic of a leading American newspaper wrote the following concerning the performance of "The Bonnie Brier Bush": "This was the first programme of the season but not the first appearance of this talented company, as this group of players closed the season last year with 'The Cotter's Saturday Night'."

The audience greeted the various members of the cast as old friends and warmly received a warm welcome. As always with this company, the whole atmosphere was delightful charming and wholesome. No effort is made at the mysterious of the complex, but there is a world of common sense and good sense in the singing of Scotch songs added much to the enjoyment of the evening."

PASSED BOGUS CHEQUES

A young man named Rankin, alias Walker, aged 23 years, recently passed worthless cheques for $12 to H. C. McBurney and $5 to Grand Union hotel. One was on a Calgary bank and one on a Coleman branch. He was arrested in Lethbridge last week and pleaded guilty to both charges. The cheques were issued in the name of J. J. Williams, who is well known locally, and with whom accused was apparently acquainted. Investigation by the police, it is reported, showed he arrived here on a transport truck and robbed a traveller's bag of some articles, the bag being on the driver's seat. Sentence was deferred till he had been examined by a mental doctor from Ponoka.

William Antrobus is speaking this week on British Israelism at Blairmore and Coleman Bible study classes.

Rev. A. S. Partington attended the Synod of Calgary diocese this week in Calgary.

Eleven people from Coleman went by special bus to Calgary to see the hockey game on Saturday between Portland Buckaroos and Calgary Tigers.

ST. PAUL'S UNITED CHURCH ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of St. Paul's United church was held on Monday, Jan. 29, at 7.30 p.m. There was a fairly representative gathering present. The minister, Rev. C. Taylor, presided. Mr. Jas. Glendinning was appointed secretary.

The Women's Missionary Society report, given by Mrs. J. Fairhurst, retiring president, showed a real contribution being made by a group of thirteen members. They had reached their allocation and had a balance to their credit.

The Ladies Auxiliary report presented by Mrs. W. Burrows, secretary, showed $376.13 had been raised towards helping the church finances. It called forth expressions of appreciation.

A pleasing interlude took place when Mr. J. Fairhurst was presented with a letter of appreciation on behalf of the Sunday school by Miss Margaret McCulloch, and J. Allan Jr. presented four books. Mr. Fairhurst replied in well-chosen words and gave a report of Sunday school activities.

The Tinkerbell report was read by Elvy Johnson. This live organization is under the leadership of Miss Ethel Dunlop.

The C.G.T. report by Miss Jean Pattinson showed that teen-age girls were well looked after and capably led by Miss Olga Hole and Mrs. A. Lonsbury.

C. McQuarrie, clerk of the session, gave the session report, which referred in glowing terms to the work of the minister.

The treasurer's report by Mr. Lewis Jones showed a net increase of $310.89 over last year. He appealed for more consistent help through the use of the Duplex envelope.

Tribute was paid to several for their interest, and to Mr. G. Pattinson for erecting the wall on the south side of the church.

Lengthy discussion ensued on the constitutional government of the church. The election of members of the board was deferred till Feb. 18 at the close of the evening service.

The evening was closed by a social hour, during which Winona Taylor sang and Mrs. Holmes recited, the ladies serving refreshments. Thus another milestone is reached in the history of St. Paul's.

Smothering Sensations Faint and Dizzy Spells

Those feelings of faintness; those dizzy spells; those all-gone smothering, sinking sensations which come over people, from time to time, are warnings that should not go unheeded. They indicate an extremely weakened condition of the nerves and other vital organs, and should be given immediate attention. Those suffering in this way will find in Milburn's H. and N. Pills a remedy with which to recuperate their health, build up their run down system, and bring back their bodily vigor.

Intolerance

Experience is a great teacher, and the world is learning many things from this period of financial and economic difficulty through which it is passing. In the process of learning, it is, of course, not only absorbing new ideas and accepting new standards but it is abandoning old ideas and methods. The world is losing certain things it can well afford to lose; the loss of which can indeed be set down as gain. The danger is, however, that it will lose other things which it can ill afford to lose, and may accept and adopt things which will spell loss and disaster in the future.

Signs are by no means lacking that one of the greatest losses which the world of mankind may suffer as the result of the times through which we are struggling is the loss of much of the political liberty gained through centuries of striving and struggle. In one European country after another dictatorships have been set up in varying degrees and in somewhat different forms, but the effect in every instance is to deprive men and women of much of the political liberty and rights of citizenship they formerly enjoyed. One or two individuals, or a small group, backed by force are imposing their wills upon tens of millions of people.

Acceptance by people in many countries of these dictatorships is one of the phenomena of this age. It appears to be the outcome, not of one only, but of several reactions to the experiences through which people are passing. In the first place, many individuals have lost confidence in themselves and in their own abilities to manage their affairs and order their lives. With this loss of confidence there is, of course, loss of ambition and initiative. They are willing to throw up their hands, and let some other person, or group of persons, do their thinking for them and plan and manage their lives and life's activities. In a word, they have reached the stage where all they ask for is a bare materialistic existence, and they want that without any effort on their part or even the trouble of thinking and planning how it may be obtained.

The second contributing factor to the phenomena we are witnessing is Fear. In the individual this is the outcome of the lack of confidence already noted, and it finds expression in public life in the attitude of doubt as to the ability of national institutions to withstand any attack that may be made against them. Thus the aspiring dictator who arises and proclaims his ability to handle the situation if only everything is left to him for decision and all necessary power is reposed in him for action. He promises quick action, decisive action, as contrasted with the slower, more moderate methods of democratic government. And because people are obsessed by Fear, and weakened by a loss of confidence in themselves, they willingly bow before the dictator, or the group of persons, who promise them a new order, or a group who, in reality, are no greater, wiser, more competent or far-reaching than they are themselves.

More deep rooted is the cause of this present day phenomena. It reaches back into the ages of the past, the dark ages of the world. At recurring periods in the world's history it rears its ugly head. It is Intolerance. It is never wholly absent but always slumbering in the breasts of mankind, ready to spring upon almost any provocation. It caused the religious wars of the past; it caused the great racial struggles; it is deep rooted in social and economic struggles. Demagogues and dictators play upon this weakness in man. It is a brand they always use wherever they start the fires of revolution.

The world to-day is witnessing a resurgence of Intolerance. There was much of it during the Great War; in fact, it was cultivated by all the warring nations in order to give their people the waging of that titanic struggle. The world is paying the price of that folly now. It bedevilled the Peace Conference; it has been the crippling factor in the councils of the League of Nations. It has resulted in narrow nationalism on the part of the nations; ever increasing, every conceivable kind of restriction; in prohibitions, embargoes, quotas; in immigration prohibitions; in class struggles everywhere.

The Socialist-Communist leaders of Russia are determined to drive all Christian religion out of that great land because they are intolerant of everything but their own particular truth. Hitler and his followers are equally grim and determined against the Jews. Mussolini will brook no opposition to his own views and methods and rules roughshod over all who oppose him. And people everywhere who have sustained losses and are in difficulty because of the world depression, instead of looking to the basic cause, unthinkingly follow would-be leaders who intolerantly point to others who still possess some property as the cause who are responsible for all the difficulties, losses and suffering of others.

The world is going to lose much of the selfishness which has grown up in and around present day business, and such loss will be gain. But is it also, through Intolerance, to lose the liberty which has been gained? Has man at such a great price? Is it true that man can only achieve a larger measure of material and economic comfort at the price of the loss of his spiritual and intellectual liberty and, in some measure at least, of his economic, social and physical liberty as well?

Intolerance may maintain dominance over men's minds for a time, but it will be but a temporary ascendancy, finally subsiding to flare up again at some future date. But during the period of its ascendancy it will work havoc, as it always has done. It will not, and never has, made for progress or happiness; it has only intensified the sorrows and troubles of the world always. Man needs to be on his guard against acceptance of any of its manifestations.

Wonderful Jewel Display

Costly Stones Seen At Birmingham Jewellers' Annual Ball

An astonishing display of jewels took place at the first annual ball of the Birmingham Jewellers. Many single pieces of jewellery on view were worth more than $50,000 each. There were diamonds as big as eggs, black and fire opals, emeralds, rubies, amethysts, topaz, and pearls set in platinum and gold rings, brooches and necklets. The jewels, which were worn by England's loveliest mannequins, were worth altogether about $750,000. Mingling among the guests were armed detectives dressed in immaculate "tails."

Receives First Air Mail

Related Christmas Gifts Delivered At Copper Mine, N.W.T.

Winter isolation of the little post of Copper Mine on Canada's Arctic shore was broken January 25 with the arrival of the first air mail it has received.

The mail machine, piloted by Walter Gilbert, of Canadian Airways, hero of a sensational dash to the magnetic pole three years ago, brought 600 pounds of mail, including 8,200 "first flight" covers for collectors from all parts of the world. Accompanying the shipment was Postal Superintendent Walter Hale, of Edmonton. Third man in the machine was Lew Parmenter, air engineer.

Mail and related Christmas gifts from "outside," were distributed by Rev. J. Morris, Anglican minister, who was sworn in as postmaster. Meanwhile, Parmenter, working in the shelter of a special igloo constructed by willing Eskimo hands to house the nose of the big Junkers plane, checked over the motor in readiness for the return flight.

The new post office serves traders and trappers over a strip of Arctic coast 1,000 miles in length.

A Coveted Honour

Manitoba Horticulturist Develops New Type of Lily

Another popular assumption has been shattered by a doughty champion from the West. While public opinion has identified Eastern Canada more or less as the hub of floral plant breeding in the Dominion, the winning of a highly-prized and signal honour by a Manitoban at the world's great horticultural centre, the Royal Horticultural Society at London, England, has once more directed attention to the long list of champions emanating from Western Canada. A coveted honour, the Cory cup, has been awarded to Mr. F. L. Skinner, Droptown, Manitoba, for breeding a new variety of lily which he has named the Maxwell. The cup is awarded to the originator of the best new hardy plant of garden origin shown to the society during the year. The Maxwell lily was exhibited last July in London, and the presentation of the cup will be made with due ceremony at the next annual meeting of the society this month.

Not Entirely New Idea

Question Of Relief Was Vital Matter Many Years Ago

W. L. Clark, in "Border Cities Star" says the hunger for relief is not something that has been sprung on us within the last four years. Quite true, it has been a much greater problem recently, but it was a vital matter long before that.

We read that the late J. F. Cairns, formerly of Chatham and later leading merchant of Saskatoon, twenty years ago donated ten per cent. of the cash receipts of his store for two days to charity in Saskatoon. Curiously enough, on the day Mr. Cairns made his announcement twenty years ago, wheat sold in Saskatoon for 68 1/2 cents per bushel, which is within a few cents of the current price.

Money Well Spent

It will cost $5,615,596 next year to operate the royal Canadian Mounted Police force, the same figure as last year. It was shown in the financial estimates tabled in the house of commons. The total includes pay, clothing and allowances for the men, arms and ammunition, building and repairs to barracks, purchase of horses and dogs, and all items down the line to stationery and printing.

Asking Too Much

The manager called his office boy into his room and indicated his desk. "Look at this," he said sharply. "It is disgraceful! Why can't you keep it cleaned and polished as you do the banister rail outside?" The boy shook his head artfully. "Well, sir," he replied, "not in the least put out. I can't very well slide down your desk."

Trade And Traffic Conference

Large Savings For Western Canada On Hudson Bay Shipments

With representatives present from Western cities, towns, boards of trade, wholesale and retail merchants associations, the organized farm bodies, and the wheat, livestock, egg and poultry pools of the prairie provinces, the Inter-Provincial Trade and Traffic Conference at their recent Saskatoon meeting carefully analyzed normal shipments of practical agricultural commodities and arrived at the definite conclusion that the people of Western Canada are in a position to save the substantial sum of $1,310,649.00 per season by using the short route to world markets, made up as follows:

Grain	$1,015,000.00
Cattle	45,700.00
Flour	178,000.00
Eggs	4,195.00
Milk products	1,392.00
Honey	2,784.00

Savings on Exports $1,248,071.00

Savings on imports—Blinder tires, window glass, wire, blacksmith's coal, etc. ... 64,578.00

Savings per season $1,310,649.00

Five cargoes have already been booked to load at Churchill on the opening of navigation, four for Liverpool and one to London.

George H. Smith, secretary of the conference, stated that the Department of Trade and Commerce is taking an active interest in the development of trade through Churchill, and were represented at the meeting by the Chief of the Commercial Intelligence Department, Mr. A. E. Fortington, who advised the delegates that the problem of providing refrigerated space for butter, lard, and other perishable commodities, had now been successfully solved.

Probe Building Industry

Appointment Of Federal Government Commission Is Urged

Appointment of a federal government commission to investigate the building industry was urged in a resolution passed at the final session of the Canadian Construction Association, completing a three-day convention in Toronto.

The purpose of the commission, the resolution indicated, would be to maintain a more even level in the industry, abolishing the wide fluctuations through which it now moves from year to year.

The government was asked in a resolution to appoint someone from the association to sit with the government in all deliberations on unemployment relief insurance.

W. H. Yates, Jr., of Hamilton, was elected president. Col. W. A. Foster, of Vancouver and Cecil Gunn, of Winnipeg, were elected western vice-presidents.

Road Accidents In England

Nineteen People Killed Every Day According To Report

Nineteen people were killed and 592 were injured every day last year upon the roads of Great Britain, according to a home office report. The total number of recorded accidents resulting in death or personal injury was 191,829, or which 6,924 proved fatal. This marks an increase of 7,923 in the total number of accidents, and of 437 in the total of fatal accidents.

In the London metropolitan police district, 1,409 people were killed and nearly 57,000 injured, compared with 1,266 and 52,000 in the previous year. Next to London, Birmingham has the highest total of killed and injured.

Millingville, Scotland, has abandoned its street cars and is seeking government permission to operate trolley buses.

A Mediterranean Voyage

Aquitania Sailing From New York On March 7

Outstanding experts in various fields have been chosen as members of the cruise staff for the voyage of the Cunard liner, Aquitania, from New York to the Mediterranean on March 7th.

The Cruise Director is Francis Peabody Hamlin, who has had plenty of experience on other Cunard cruises including the exciting Round-the-World variety. In reference to the masculine wardrobe on these cruises, Mr. Hamlin remarks:

"A pair of gray or brown flannel slacks are always in order with an odd tweed coat or Norfolk jacket on shipboard for daytime wear, or perhaps you prefer knickerbockers and golf stockings. Spring suits are useful as we approach the warmer climates of the Mediterranean and even a lighter weight suit, such as a gabardine, might be needed if you take the optional trip to Upper Egypt."

"You will need a heavy overcoat down to the dock. A spring overcoat should also be taken or the all-around usefulness of a hat coat could be substituted for both. It is general to dress in the evening for dinner and a Tuxedo suffices on shipboard and ashore unless perhaps you know the Prince of Monaco personally, in which case you should bring your full dress."

Lieut. E. Van Siller will be the Social Directress. She has had experience in the social life of diplomatic Washington. In reference to women's clothes, she recommends:

"You are advised to bring a heavy-weight coat, a light-weight coat and evening wraps. All of your sport clothes are just the thing. You will wear your tailored suit, too. Since you are bringing one or two daytime dresses, you may want to slip into a pair of slacks and a light-weight jacket. You may feel too tired to go formal. Your sports clothes are knitted or jersey or light weight sweaters, perhaps tweed. As to the number of evening clothes you have brought—that is such a personal matter."

Last year at only one port was rain encountered. Everyone with an umbrella, a pair of slip-on rubbers or a slick-looking rain cap looked to the future with a certain amount of foreboding. Every woman who had worn heavy stockings and those close-fitting, high-advertised undies had suffered not at all.

"Are you going to bring a costume for the Fancy Dress night? That is always a big event. Your costume will win a prize for being original, if not the most beautiful. And by the way, as an afterthought you really should take a pair of comfortable walking shoes with you."

R. A. Gordon will be assistant Cruise Director, and Leon Dabo will be the social secretary. The latter is internationally known as a painter and a speaker of remarkable facility. He has studied under great masters and is of his world. He is now in the Luxembourg and the Metropolitan Museum in New York.

Other members of the cruise staff include Mrs. D. B. Wisdom, Bridge Hostess, who will also give bridge classes; George Ferrier, Golf Director, who has been the ship's "pro" on good many Cunard cruises. He has played on most of the Mediterranean courses and will help the passengers to arrange matches and rounds on some of the best courses.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

COCONUT APPLE BETTY

4 tart apples, pared, cored, and sliced

1 cup soft bread crumbs

1 cup sifted coconut

1 cup brown sugar

1 teaspoon cinnamon

4 tablespoons butter.

Arrange layer of apples in greased baking dish. Cover with bread crumbs and coconut. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Dot with butter. Repeat until all ingredients are used, topping with coconut. Bake, covered, in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Uncover and bake 10 minutes longer, or until apples are soft. Serve six.

Predicts Second Slide

Geologist Advises People At Frank, Alberta, To Move

Warning that the railroad, highway, telephone lines and homes of people in the valley should be moved, Dr. J. A. Allan, geologist at the University of Alberta, declared that a second slide is possible at Frank, Alberta.

"Three million cubic yards are definitely preparing to give way on Turtle mountain," he said. He declared that it was useless to attempt to dynamite sections but to clear the area "and let nature take its course."

Between 85 and 90 persons died in the slide, which occurred on April 29, 1903.

Dr. Allan said that he spent some time last summer in examining the mountain and found new fissures, some of them 40 feet wide and hundreds of feet deep, and giving off peculiar noises.

Canadian Composer

Celebrated Contralto Sings Songs Composed By Montreal Man

Sigrid Onegin, celebrated contralto, is proud to have in her repertoire a song written by the Canadian composer, Emiliano Renaud, of Montreal, whose works, she believes, will be famous in years to come.

"I was in Switzerland five years ago," she began, telling the story of her first meeting with him in the course of an interview, "and one day I received a great pile of music from this Emiliano Renaud, who said he was an admirer of my voice. My accompanist and I went over the music and found some songs of rare beauty. I at once learned them and sang them for the first time on my next visit to Montreal."

No Danger From Gases

Deadliest Kind Can Never Be Used In War

By getting into a hot bath the average person would be almost completely safe during a wartime gas attack, Dr. Francis Freeth, of the headquarters staff of the Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., said in a lecture at London.

Dr. Freeth ridiculed popular fears of poison gas as a war weapon. The deadliest gases, he said, can't be used in a war.

The only effective military gas, Dr. Freeth declared, is mustard gas, the value of which is now ended, he said, since complete defensive measures have been discovered.

World production of boots and shoes in the first half of 1933 was 675,000,000 pairs, an increase of 20 per cent. over the first six months of 1932.

Through traffic on the Peiping-Mukden railway in China has just been resumed.

Russian Spokesman Says Soviet Army Will Be Victorious In Any War

Moscow. Soviet Russia to-day has the "most highly mechanized army in the world" and will be "victorious in any war in which we are compelled to participate," commissar for war Klementi E. Voroshiloff declared before the All-Union Communist party congress. He was outlining the Soviet's defenses and the measures being taken to repel a possible invasion.

"Despite our diplomatic efforts we have not yet succeeded in convincing Japanese ruling circles that peace is better than war," the commissar declared.

In language which left no doubt that the red army's high command was convinced that war with Japan is probable, Voroshiloff declared that fortifications had been erected at strategic points on the far eastern border, through which "it would be difficult for any invader to penetrate," and that armed forces had been "increased" in that region.

Reiterating the charge Japan was preparing Manchuria as a military base for future operations against the U.S.S.R., he said, "this compels us to prepare for eventualities. War with us will not be easy for Japanese military circles. It would be a big and costly war for the initiators."

Propose Wage Investigation

Hon. Chas. Stewart Would Probe Industrial Activities

Ottawa.—Hiding behind tariff protection, some Canadian manufacturers have made excessive profits throughout the depression yet paid the lowest wages in history to their employees. It was charged in the house of commons by Hon. Charles Stewart, former minister of the interior. He proposed a sweeping investigation into industrial activities, along the lines proposed for chain and departmental store buying practices.

"I am credibly informed," said the former Alberta premier, "and I am going to ascertain the truth of the matter, that in western Ontario there is an individual engaged in production of silk stockings and silk underwear who stands to make a profit well over $200,000 this year and he is paying the lowest wages he ever paid."

There was need of an investigation to stop extravagant profits and low rates of pay, said Mr. Stewart and at the same time, to determine how manufacturers were hiding behind tariff protection.

Seek Lower Freight Rates

Crow's Nest Rates Asked For Grain Moving Westward

Ottawa.—Designed to provide lower freight rates on grain from Fort William to the Pacific coast, an amendment to the Railway act will be introduced in the house of commons by Thomas Reid (Liberal, New Westminster).

The bill would make the Crow's Nest rates, now applying on grain moving eastward from Calgary to the head of the lakes, applicable to grain shipments from Fort William to Vancouver.

Senator Says Canada Should Retire From League Of Nations

Ottawa.—Canada should retire from the League of Nations while the opportunity exists to do so "honourably" lest the Dominion become entangled in an European war, said Senator A. D. McRae, of Vancouver, in the senate.

"In my judgment," Senator McRae said, "an European war is a certainty within five years." In suggesting an early withdrawal from the League of Nations he expressed the opinion that "no Canadian life should be sacrificed on the future happiness of Danes."

Senator McRae said that the situation during the Great War was a quarter-century ago. He held the rank of major-general. His state-

Official Announcement Of Promotion Of S. J. Hungerford Has Been Made

Montreal.—Official announcement of the promotion of S. J. Hungerford to the presidency of the Canadian National Railways was made here by Hon. Charles F. Fullerton, chairman of the trustees.

Mr. Hungerford had been acting president since July 29, 1932, following the resignation of Sir Henry Thornton, who died later in New York City. Mr. Hungerford also carried on his former duties as vice-president in charge of operation since that date.

Mr. Hungerford has been acclaimed as a thorough railwayman since the days when, in 1889, he left with his dinner pail to the South-eastern railway shops in Farnham, Que., to start his career as an apprentice.

In due course he became a machinist and from that start moved steadily on until in 48 years he has become president of one of the largest railway systems on the North American continent.

Not Extravagant

Says Chain Unfounded That West Has Been Extravagant

Ottawa.—Allegations that the western provinces had been extravagant in governmental expenditures were unfounded, John Brown (Lib., Lacombe) told the house of commons as he spoke in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne. He was the only speaker.

Mr. Brown cited figures to show that both current expenditures and bonded indebtedness had increased to a greater extent in Ontario and Quebec in the last 20 years than in the western provinces. The plight of the west was due, he said, to depressed state of world trade for which the Bennett government was partly responsible and to natural disasters, drought and the grasshopper plague.

Receives Letter From Queen

Cambridge Man Offered Lift When Royal Car Stalled

Cambridge, England.—Mr. and Mrs. Percy Timmou have received a letter from the queen.

Her Majesty expressed to the Timmoues her grateful thanks for their assistance when the queen's automobile broke down on the road between Cambridge and Ely.

On that occasion Mr. Timmou transported the queen in his little sedan from the stalled royal limousine to the queen's destination in Cambridge.

What Canada Has Gained

Ottawa.—One thing Canada had gained by the recent years of depression she has passed through was the realignment of trade routes and the formation of new trade channels, according to the monthly crop report, compiled for the Ontario department of agriculture by S. H. Symons, statistician and economist.

ments were made in the course of the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

During his conclusions upon observations made during a recent tour of central Europe, General McRae declared that the result of the Versailles treaty had been to set on a group of countries filled with animosities and racial hatreds.

He was not unmindful, General McRae said, of the work done by the league in the suppression of the negro and white slave trade, but it had failed in its main objective of establishing international peace.

"When we are great nations that are already over-populated, paying a bonus for large families," Senator McRae observed, "it is not difficult to conclude what is in their minds."

New Wheat Plan

Further Proposals Are Made To Rehabilitate Wheat

London.—Twenty-one governments that subscribed to a world wheat pact last autumn were called on by their advisory commission to consider further drastic proposals to rehabilitate wheat.

Among the projects were plans to upset the temporary low-price barrier on exports and recommendations for abolishing or curbing subsidies and increasing consumption of the commodity. It was learned authoritatively.

The proposals were contained in a confidential report drawn up by delegates of Canada and 14 other countries which are members of the international wheat advisory commission.

When the commission reassembles in Rome on April 5 the governments are expected to have given full consideration to the proposals and be ready to act.

Health Insurance For B.C.

Definite Plans To Be Worked Out By Government

Victoria.—Definite plans for a contributory state health insurance scheme under provincial control will be worked out by the British Columbia government in the six months following the coming session of the legislature, Hon. G. M. Weir, minister of education and provincial secretary, stated. It would be implemented, he added, as soon as a sound basis could be found for whatever scheme of contributions and benefits was decided upon.

It would be impossible to take action at the coming session of the legislature, Dr. Weir said, but given necessary time to work out a detailed insurance scheme, the government intended to act on the plan without waiting for institution of a system by the Dominion or in other provinces.

Titles Resolution

Labour Member For Hamilton East Makes New Motion

Ottawa.—Humphrey Mitchell, Labour member for Hamilton East, withdrew his "titles resolution" from the house of commons order paper and filed a substitute with the clerk, based on the suggestion made by Premier R. B. Bennett.

The new motion reads "that in the opinion of this house the prime minister should refrain from recommending to His Majesty the King the granting of titles, honors and awards to British subjects resident in Canada."

Oil Well On Prince's Ranch

Problem Of The Idle

Hon. Arthur Meighen Says Canada Should Study Efforts Of Roosevelt

Ottawa.—Canada should study carefully and with a lot of sympathy the courageous efforts of the president of the United States to overcome the serious conditions with which that country is faced, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen declared in the senate. As government leader in that chamber he was speaking on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Canada was doing, he believed, the best it could to meet the situation. Day by day, hour by hour, this great problem of the unemployed was being impressed upon him, Senator Meighen said.

Searching For Coal

Mine Experts Have Already Found Iron Ore In Irish Area

Dublin.—The green of "Ould Ireland" may be covered by the smoke of industry if the republican government is successful in its announced determination to make the Free State independent of the United Kingdom or any other country, for its fuel supplies.

French engineers and mining experts engaged in boring operations in the Arigna valley, County Leitrim, under government auspices, have discovered three rich veins of iron ore. It was announced. They were proceeding to search for coal.

Want Interest Moratorium

Victoria.—Extension of mortgage moratorium legislation to include interest as well as principal is sought in a resolution passed by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities in convention here. The union decided to ask the provincial legislature to provide that judges may remit interest as well as principal payments entirely within their own discretion.

Appoint Committee To Conduct Probe Into Industrial Conditions

Senator Forke Passes

One Of Manitoba's Honored Citizens Dies In 74th Year

Winnipeg.—Death claimed Senator Robert Forke, one of Manitoba's most honored former citizens. He died in hospital here in his 74th year.

Senator Forke, called the pioneer of Pipestone, had been confined to hospital since New Year's Day, suffering from heart ailment. Death was not unexpected. The senator's condition had been regarded as critical for the past month, but he waged a stubborn battle for life. His wife and three daughters were at the bedside when the end came.

Coming to eastern Canada in 1882 as an emigrant youth from his home at Gordon, Berwickshire, Scotland, Mr. Forke entered public life shortly after settling in the Pipestone district, and for 20 years was reeve of that municipality.

In 1921 he was first elected to the house of commons as Progressive member for Brandon, and subsequently rose to be Dominion leader of his party. In the general election of 1929 he was re-elected and received an acclamation in 1936.

He was appointed minister of immigration and colonization on formation of the Mackenzie King cabinet, but resigned the post when summoned to the senate December 30, 1939.

He is survived by his widow, three daughters, Ethel, Marjorie and Mary.

Illuminated Highways

Would Do Away With Head Lights On Cars

Toronto.—Illuminating highways sufficiently to permit driving without head lamps will be achieved "sooner than is imagined," in the opinion of W. P. Dobson, chief testing engineer of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power commission, who addressed the Association of Municipal Electrical Utilities' convention here.

Incandescent lamps, he predicted, would disappear and give place to facilities that would produce "cold" light. Highways, he believed, would be illuminated by the use of sodium lamps at an expenditure of two kilowatts per mile.

Intercollegiate Debates

Results Are Announced Of Four Trans-Canada Contests

Toronto.—Results of four intercollegiate trans-Canada debates were announced here as follows:

Dalhousie University defeated University of New Brunswick, Fredericton; Laval University, Quebec, defeated the University of Ottawa; University of Western Ontario, London, defeated McMaster University, Hamilton; University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, defeated University of Manitoba, Winnipeg.

Ottawa.—The house of commons established machinery for the most sweeping parliamentary probe into industrial conditions ever attempted in Canada. With one voice, the house passed a motion sponsored by Premier R. B. Bennett to set up a committee of 15 members to investigate price spreads between consumers and producers.

Instructions to the committee were couched in the widest terms but emphasis was laid on investigation of mass buying practices by chain and department stores, labor conditions in industries, the relation between the flour milling industry and the bakeries of the country, and methods of marketing livestock and animal products of all sorts.

"What we have in mind," explained Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, "is to try to find out whether or not the indulgence of unfair and unethical practices is prevalent in this country and to find the causes, to ascertain as far as we possibly can, what remedies can be invoked and to report to the house from time to time, its (the committee's) findings with the recommendation of such measures as, in its opinion, may be considered necessary to secure fair and just practices in the distribution and marketing systems of Canada."

The real purpose of the inquiry, said the prime minister, was to evolve means to prevent the engraving of hazardous and detrimental business methods on Canada when economic recovery seemed imminent.

The motion passed without a vote but only after four hours' discussion. Led by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberals supported the inquiry but told the government it should have started two or three years ago.

"If we are to judge," said the Liberal leader, "by the length of time parliamentary committees and royal commissions usually take to do their work so far as this session is concerned, we should hardly be able to look for much in the way of legislation that will help effectively to meet what, apparently, the government recognizes to be a very serious condition. What I think the country is interested in at the moment is not such further inquiry with respect to matters with which nearly everyone knows a great deal, but legislation if more is required, that will meet a situation that is already pretty well understood."

Canadian Minister Recovering

Ottawa.—Hon. Herbert Marler, Canadian minister to Japan, is recovering from his recent protracted and serious illness, according to word received by Hon. I. M. Tokugawa, Japanese minister to Canada.

Relief Fund For India

London.—The lord mayor has opened a fund for relief of sufferers from the earthquakes in India a fortnight ago. His latest news indicated the death toll would be more than double previous estimates.

Claim Is Made That Combines In Canada Are Controlling Production

Ottawa.—Combines exist in Canada controlling production and distribution of 10 necessities of life, it was charged in the house of commons by Harry Dutech, Liberal member for Last Mountain, Sask. He listed bread, fruit, milk, fish, coal, cotton, cement, pulp and paper, as bakes and radios as commodities controlled by combines.

"This house," exclaimed the Saskatchewan member, "has a duty to deal with these men (controlling the combines) and if we fail we cannot complain if replaced by others."

The Consolidated Companies act now planned between the Dominion and provinces should provide machinery to deal adequately with combines and unscrupulous stockholders, said Mr. Dutech. "Financial brigandage" was being imported from the United States and sharp penalties were needed to curb "princely immoral practices."

The address debate was continued when private members were not prepared to discuss their resolutions and motions. J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the C.C.F., pressed for labor codes for industries making large profits and paying small wages; nationalization of the nickel industry to prevent the manufacture of armaments; and government investigation of "financial and industrial manipulations."

In his combative speech, Mr. Dutech stressed the radio industry as an example. He said an investigation under the Dominion Combines act had found sufficient evidence to warrant court action against five manufacturers of radios and tubes out of the sixty-general of Ontario declined to prosecute.

He called upon the federal government to lay charges or reduce the duty against imported sets or revoke its patents. The alleged case was cited, he said, though a $14,000 set paid fees for the manufacturer and licensed companies.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The same disruptive and soul-destroying element which wrecked the Mine Workers Union of Canada is again attempting to get in its destructive work against which those who believe in orderly government must take their stand. It must be fought as we would fight a pestilence, for there are no halfway measures and no compromise whatever to be considered in dealing with such a gang which nearly brought disaster to the coal industry of the Crown Nest Pass two years ago. The Journal is out to fight it and prepared to stand or fall on the issue as to who will control the municipal councils and school boards of the Crown Nest Pass. For that reason we support a state of men whom we feel confident will maintain the principles which loyal citizens approve.

Every citizen has a duty besides just voting. He should interest himself to see that men are elected who have business ability to conduct the town and school business on an impartial basis with equal treatment to all and special privileges to none. Sectional or class government is objectionable and cannot be tolerated in any form of democratic government.

The Journal unhesitatingly takes a stand in support of the present mayor George Pattinson, for re-election. His policy after two years as mayor has gained the confidence and support of the majority of the ratepayers. He has been right on the job, being ready to take up major and minor problems at any time, especially in dealing with relief problems, and his council has given impartial consideration to all. We have confidence in his integrity, and in his ability to give Coleman progressive and constructive policies.

His fairness and his readiness to study the requirements of the community warrant the endorsement of ratepayers. It is the duty of those who desire loyalty from men to represent them on the council and school trustee board to work for them. Just going to the poll is not sufficient. Elections are not won that way. If you believe in a cause, fight for it till the contest is over.

Peter A. Miskew, a bright young man who represents Victoria constituency in the provincial legislature, had been selected by Premier Brownlee to move the resolution to adopt the speech from the throne at the opening today of the legislature. Mr. Miskew thought over it, and subsequently declined the honor because he could endorse the policies of the U.F.A. government no longer, and further, he asked that his name on the register of the house be transferred to the Liberal ranks. So trouble piles up for Mr. Brownlee, with two or three unpleasant recollections concerning cabinet ministers in the public mind and trying to rile two political fences, (the U.F. and the C.C.F.) When one tries to serve more than one master—you know what happens.

Someone with energy and of an adventurous turn develops a market, and as soon as he gets going, others horn in and profit by his pioneer work. This goes on all the time, and the pioneer has to keep on pioneering ahead of the imitators until he comes to the end of his life and there's nothing to do but die. Every good idea born is immediately seized on by imitators. It's human nature to follow the bell-sheep.

Personal feelings are given vent to in small towns to a greater extent than in larger centres. People become so intimate that impositions occur. A tradesman is asked to give accommodation people would not think of asking in a city. If credit is curtailed, they think they are harshly dealt with. Remember the merchant cannot settle his bills on indefinite promises to pay. Cash is the only thing that counts in settling up. Good wishes are just air.

Sales agents for steam coal in Winnipeg send out a circular advising buyers of merchandise to use their influence in promoting the use of steam coal by purchasing from those firms who use coal. If we in the Pass live on steam coal output, business acumen demands that we buy from manufacturers who use our coal. Obviously any firm being solicited to change from coal to a competing fuel would be less likely to change if they knew it entailed loss of their sales outlets in the coal mining areas." states the circular. Self-preservation is the first law of nature.

ODDS AND ENDS

The progressive, aggressive business man advertises in The Journal. Coleman people buy from those stores whose advertisements appear consistently in The Journal. They are looked for as regularly as the news. Besides, people in other Pass towns read and are influenced in their buying by Journal advertising. Be among the progressive merchants and carry an advertisement weekly.

Those whose business is not worth advertising, might at least advertise it for sale. Which reminds us of the story of the reader finding a spider in his paper, and on complaining to the publisher he was told that the spider was looking for a quiet place by finding out those stores which did not advertise. However, we boost for those who boost for us.

In plain words, THAT'S RECIPROCITY, and business, like charity, begins right here in Coleman as far as we are concerned.

Here is an instance of advertising value. Reading a newspaper from Boston, glancing over a column of small advertisements, a name seemed familiar. It was "Evans, Coleman & Evans, Ltd." The thought flashed, where had we previously seen it? Almost immediately a heavy truck with an electric sign in the front of the cab was remembered as having been seen in Vancouver, while on a visit. It is the name of a coal firm. The significance is that advertising which impresses itself on the mind is proof that the right kind of advertising pays. The advertisement appeared among 22 other small ads, in the Vancouver column of the Christian Science Monitor, similar to the Directory column in the Journal.

The Journal is taken home and read. Fly sheets and other forms of advertising are glanced at and cast aside, creating very little impression from a purchasing standpoint, spend your money to the best advantage by carrying an advertisement in the paper which goes into the homes. Develop customers goodwill by carrying an advertisement quickly read and printed in such form that it attracts attention.

Cut-Throat Methods

Some patronize a typewritten fly sheet rather than support a real newspaper which consistently fights for Coleman first, last and all the time.

The mayor of Blaimore in order to undermine the Enterprise, orders the annual statement printed by a typewriter and duplicated instead of by journeyman printers working on a union wage scale. Union principles usually condemn discriminatory "scalping" methods in industry.

Quite a number of Bellevue people will attend the trammens' Ball to be held at Macleod on Wed. Feb. 7, all roads east being in fine shape.

The A.A.H.A. has drawn Bellevue to play Blairmore, at Blairmore on Monday and Blairmore at Bellevue on Wednesday. Coleman to meet Macleod in two games, goals to count in each case, and the two winning teams to play down in the first round of the provincial playdowns.

Hockey fans seem to have it doped out that we will not be seeing Coleman on Bellevue ice again this season. They sure get a thrill when Coleman meets Bellevue.

Some of the Bellevue people were up at Frank early Monday morning while the fire was raging in the C.P.R. roundhouse, from here the fire looked to be in Blairmore.

Orders for Gummed Paper for parcelling machines may be filed at The Journal office. Plain or printed paper may be supplied, at lowest current prices. Printed gummed paper orders should be given one month ahead of requirement, as it takes that length of time to put the orders through the factory.

Drums Of Gordon Highlanders

Germany Returns Captured Drums To Old British Regiment
General Sir Ian Hamilton journeyed to Berlin to receive from President Paul von Hindenburg the drums of the Gordon Highlanders and what he describes as a "gallant gesture from a very old soldier of world-wide reputation."

When the second battalion of the Gordon Highlanders landed at Ostend in the autumn of 1914 they were ordered to stack their drums at the police station and proceed with pipas alone in rapid marches. Hearing they were likely to be overwhelmed by heavy German forces, they edged off towards Ypres and never saw Ostend again.

After their long occupation of Ostend the Germans took the Gordon drums and placed them in their war museum. Sir Ian recently made representations to the highest quarters in Berlin with the result he was invited to go to Germany and get the drums.

Service Is Popular

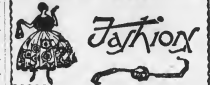

Montreal-Albany Air Service Is Showing Constant Expansion
Regular daily aircraft operations between Montreal and New York have concluded their fifth calendar year with a grand total of 2,388 passengers and 171,784 pounds of mail flown from St. Hubert Airport to those at Albany and Newark.

These figures indicate an average of forty passengers per month and 2,863 pounds of mail over the entire period, but some measure of the increasing popularity of this service may be obtained from the monthly reports for last year, which show that the average passenger carryings were 53, and that five thousand pounds of mail left Montreal each month.

These figures would have been even higher, it was explained by H. O. Young, general manager of Canadian Colonial Airways, if the exceptionally bad weather experienced since the end of October had not occasioned so many cancellations.

Despite unfavorable flying conditions in November and December, aeroplanes of Canadian Colonial Airways carried a record quantity of mail southbound during the past 12 months, amounting to 59,970 pounds. At fifty letters to the pound this would indicate a total of three million letters.

SALT

(By Gordon H. Quest, M.A.)

Common salt, known to the chemist as sodium chloride, has played an important part in man's everyday life since the beginning of time. Although it now has wide-spread commercial uses, it is primarily essential to the diet, and it is estimated that each person consumes twenty-nine pounds of salt in a year.

Salt was first valued by primitive man when cereals became part of his diet. As time went on, it became increasingly important, and bitter wars were waged for it, when nations possessing rich salt deposits were invaded by their less fortunate neighbors.

The first trade routes are said to have been established for the transportation of salt, and the Via Salaria (Road of Salt), one of the most ancient roads in Italy, received its name in this way. Roman soldiers were given salt rations, called "salaris," as part of their pay, and from this is derived our word "salary."

Salt has been taxed in many countries, and the role played by the salt tax in the political history of India is well known. In some parts of the world, salt has been used as money, and it is said that in Africa a few pounds of it will purchase a native princess.

To-day salt is used not only on the table, but in the manufacture of many commodities. Large quantities of it are utilized in the production of caustic soda, better known as household lye, which in turn is necessary to the production of hard soaps. It is also used extensively in the production of washing soda, known as sodium carbonate. Further, the decomposition by electricity of a strong solution of salt in water, produces the poisonous gas chlorine. Besides its well-known use in warfare, chlorine is employed for bleaching textiles, paper and flour, as well as for purifying water supplies. The use of salt as a preservative for meat, fish and other foods is familiar to all.

Salt is said to suggest the most entirely with hydrochloric acid, an important part of the digestive juice. It is also thought to play a part in the production of the alkaline secretion which keeps the walls of the stomach from being broken down by the digestive juices.

Canada is fortunate in possessing one of the richest salt mines in the world. This is located near Windsor, Ontario, and has an area of over three thousand square miles. The bed is from one thousand to two thousand feet below the surface of the earth, and it is estimated that it contains sufficient salt to last the world for 90,000 years at the present rate of consumption.

Other great salt deposits are found in various parts of the continent including Michigan, Kansas, Ohio, and Louisiana. At Simpson, Saskatchewan, there is a deposit which yields considerable crude salt. In Europe the most celebrated salt lakes are in Prussia, where there are mines which have been worked since the twelfth century. There are also rich deposits in China, Persia, Caucasus, Crimea, the Sahara desert, and in various parts of Australia.

TIMELY WARNINGS

Golden Text: "Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire." Matthew 7:19.

Lesson: Matthew 7:1-29.

Devotional Reading: Proverbs 2:1-8.

Explanations And Comments

The Golden Rule, verse 12. All things therefore: the context shows the meaning of the word "therefore," since God is so good to us, we must be good to others, verses 7-11. "With these words Jesus closes up the teaching of these chapters and ties them all up in a little bundle," Martin Luther observes. "Whatever ye would that men should do unto you, even so do ye also unto them." Taken literally, and without qualification, this would mean that we must do whatever others want, and give them whatever we might wish under like conditions. So interpreted, it would mean that we must give the child his folly, the toper his liquor, and even the burglar his bribe. Altruism, and Tolstoy has shown in an entry in his diary, if taken by itself, and followed as a discipline, ends in anarchy—against which an elemental safety protests. Obviously Jesus means that we must do unto others—not necessarily what they want us to do—but what we ourselves would like them to do unto us, with our desires as disciples of Christ, were in their position. And just as we like to be treated, not exactly according to what we are, but according to what we are hoping and trying to be, so we should treat others." (Joseph Ford Newton).

"If you have been reading the Golden Rule, put it on—See how you look in it compared with your appearance in your habitual dress. Put it on your church. Do you recognize would they change their attitude and conduct if they should come to feel that this rule is a law from heaven for their church? It is on the human race. It belongs there. It is for nations as well as for individuals, it is universal and not local, it is everlasting and not temporary. If only every man and every woman should on every day of all the year obey the Golden Rule!" (Charles E. Jefferson).

Accuracy Is First Rule

Any Decent Editor Willing To Acknowledge And Correct Errors

Newspapers have a lot of abuse heaped on them. But in our half century of work in newspaper offices, we never knew of any editor who didn't have as his first rule accuracy and fairness. You may not like the way a report is written, but reporters like yourself, are just human and liable to err. Before making reckless charges way not find out just how hard he tried to do his best.

Make a note of it: Any newspaper will be glad to have your side of the case. Accurate news reporting is a newspaper's life blood. Any decent newspaper will freely acknowledge its errors or faults.—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

Marvels of the Human Eye

By F. M. CROWE, Optometrist-Optician, Calgary

NO. 8.—CATARACT

Much ignorance exists as to what a cataract really is. A great many people think it is a growth of some kind on the outside of the eyeball which can be seen with the naked eye—but such is not the case. A cataract is that condition of the eye in which the Crystalline Lens has, from various causes, lost its former transparency thus preventing the rays of light from passing through it unhindered and focusing a clear image on the Retina. This loss of transparency usually progresses very slowly. Sometimes it starts from a single point or nucleus and gradually spreads throughout the whole Lens while in other cases the entire Lens is involved at the same time. In the latter case it is very difficult, even for an expert with instruments, to recognize it in the early stages but as and when it continues to progress, the Lens becomes more and more cloudy or "milky," the Retina becomes more difficult to observe (with instruments) and finally when the Cataract has become "ripe," the pupil instead of being black, is grey, which can be seen by anyone without the aid of instruments.

That condition then, in which the Lens has become cloudy is known as a Cataractous Lens or Cataract and glasses seldom offer much assistance. In fact, as the condition changes, the Lens swells, necessitating the frequent changing of the glasses worn. It eventually the Lens having become so convex, the effect of the convex glasses formerly worn is neutralized and such people can read better (but not satisfactorily) without glasses than with those formerly worn and this is how the false idea of "second sight" originated. There is no such condition in normal life as "second sight" and such an appearance of vision is due to the fact above said. It is next to impossible, however, to make many people believe this. They insist in all sincerity that a relative lived to be over ninety years of age and could see to read years of glasses although he formerly had to wear them, hence he must have got his "second sight". In the first place such people have no means of knowing the percentage of normal vision such a relative possessed at any time of life and the only foundation for their belief is that the relative before death could see better with glasses than with them—the explanation of which I trust have made clear. So do not hope that you will ever "get your second sight". Occasionally both eyes are simultaneously affected but usually the opacity appears in one Lens years in advance of the other but eventually both eyes become diseased. When the Cataracts have become "ripe" the patient has difficulty in distinguishing daylight from darkness and in proportion to the progress of the disease, dimness of vision follows for which glasses are of little or no avail. Patient sees as if he were in a fog or as if a film is before the eyes. He usually has an aversion to bright light and in fact prefers a dark or cloudy day because he sees better and more comfortably. Cataracts do not cause any inflammation of the eye, but they do cause a mazy condition to the eyeball. Technically there are several varieties and the causes are many. There is the Senile due to extreme old age but fortunately few even very old people are afflicted. Injury to the eyeball at some time of life is a common cause with certain diseases of the body have a tendency to produce it, Bright's Disease for example. There is no medicine, exercises or other "cures" for Cataracts although much money and time, with resultant sorrow, have been spent by people who have fallen into the hands of the fakir (usually by means of literature) who has promised cures with his nostrums or "special glasses". Surgery, performed by a skillful operator, when the Cataract is "ripe" is the only solution and when the opaque Crystalline Lens has been successfully removed from the eyeball and proper glasses supplied, there is nothing to prevent the patient from seeing clearly with the eye and focusing on the Retina and very often one hundred per cent. vision follows. (To Be Continued)

Cut Will Be Continued

Salaries Of Federal Civil Service Workers, Not Changed

The 10 per cent salary reduction for civil servants, members of the house of commons and senators will be continued another year, it was shown when the estimates for the financial year opening in April were tabled in the house of commons.

The salary cut was established as an economy measure in the financial year 1932-33 and was continued last year. Last year it was estimated to have saved the national treasury $8,000,000.

Civil servant associations sought its repeal last year and again this year but were unsuccessful. Statutory increases, suspended two years ago as well, will continue to be held up.

OCCASIONAL WIFE

By

EDNA ROBB WEBSTER

Author of "Joretta," "Lipstick Girl" Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to help Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roomer with whom he has quarreled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the gaiety, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Avis is stunned and Camilla's roomer likewise. Camilla decides that she must leave the home of her adopted parents immediately and go to live with Rose, her sister, who is a file clerk in a business house. They decide to take an apartment. Bowman and Weeks, an advertising agency, where Camilla has submitted some of her work, send for her and tell her they have a new account which requires unusual treatment of juvenile art. To Camilla's surprise she learns that the account is that of her foster father's company, and she has decided on an extensive campaign to bolster up lagging business.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XXIX.

Camilla's first thought was to rush to Peter with the news. Then a second one assailed her—what if she failed? Could she admit that? No, she was riding the crest of the wave of excitement now—or was she riding in the clouds again, she wondered giddily, as she guided her car by instinct and habit through the lanes of traffic. It behooved her to come down to earth, forget her own reactions and breathless hopes, and consider seriously the problem before her.

"Yes!" she called impatiently. "Will you answer the telephone, Miss Camilla?" "Who is it?" "Mr. Anson calling. I thought you might."

"Why, of course, I didn't include Peter when I said I wasn't at home to anyone," she laughed.

"I thought you didn't," Bates grinned slyly. He never smiled in anyone's presence save Camilla's.

"Hello, Lovable," Peter's sunny voice greeted her. "What are you doing?"

"Oh, don't ask me, darling, because I can't tell you my own plans."

"Is that so? Why not, I'd like to know?"

"It's a surprise—a nice one. And if you ask me another question, I shouldn't be able to keep the secret, Peter. What are you doing?"

"Well, that's a surprise, too," he bantered, "but I just finished it and now I want to see you. It has been three days—or didn't you know?"

"I thought it was three weeks, but I may be wrong. But darling, I can't see you now."

"Soon, then," he insisted. "Meet me at Charm Cottage for dinner at six. I want to look at something beautiful and talk to something sweet."

"Oh, Peter, I'm so sorry, but I can't. I'm terribly busy and can't be disturbed at all tonight." Her heart yearned to say "yes" and meet him eagerly and share that sweet pleasure of dining with him at Charm Cottage—where they had shared their wedding dinner. Here, already, was where her career stopped in and was demanded first consideration. Perhaps if she explained to him, it would help. No—she had to take a chance that Peter would understand. Perhaps, after all, a test of the faith. But her doubt reproached her.

"Busy—at what?" he inquired with dismay.

"Work."

"Did you get a position?" quickly.

"No—not yet." It was so difficult to tell him about it.

"Well, then, there's tomorrow and all the other tomorrows for your work."

"No, Peter, I can't see you, tonight, firmly."

"When—then?" he asked, after a moment of silence, and his voice sounded desolate.

She clung to her resolution and thought rapidly. If something definite should be decided tomorrow, she could have dinner with him and tell him the wonderful news. Probably, there would be no decision even for days after she submitted her drawings. Even so, it would be wonderful to see Peter, and she would have to try to keep her secret from him. "Make it tomorrow," she said. "And I'm awfully sorry about tonight, dear."

"May I stop in for a few minutes, later, later?" anxiously. "You're not ill?"

"Oh, no, dear. And please don't stop in. I do want to see you awfully much—but I can't."

"Okay, then. Tomorrow at six."

"Goodbye, Peter."

"Bye, Lovable."

She put down the telephone regretfully, sat musing forlornly for a moment, then rose quickly and returned to her work. "If you're a good sport, you'll play this game by the rules you laid out when you invented it. Your and Peter's careers come first—marriage second, for awhile. Peter has been splendid about it all. Now, don't you give in at the first test." She gave herself a little shake of impatience and returned to her drawing board to lose herself, but musing forlornly for a moment, then rose quickly and returned to her work.

"Thanks, Bates, and please will them I've telephoned that I won't be back today. Sorry to ask you to lie for me," she smiled, "but it's terribly important, Bates, or I shouldn't. I'll tell you about it some day, and you'll say it was worth more than a little white lie."

"Don't I know it, now?" he beamed. "If you say so, then it is." The stratagem worked beautifully. The crowd had stopped for her to go with them to the country club for lunch and golf and a tea-dance, but presently they drifted into their motor cars and sped idly away. Bates had given them her message, Camilla knew.

That faithful servant also brought her lunch on a tray at her request and delivered her keys to Sims with orders to take her car to the garage. Finally, she was not to be disturbed for any reason less important than fire or sudden death.

In her sitting room, which had been converted into a studio when she entered National to study art, she donned a thin smock and loose slippers and set to work. She had determined to give Weeks and Bowman the surprise of their lives. At least, she supposed it would be a surprise, judging from Mr. Bowman's remarks when she had talked with him at that first interview. And why shouldn't she surprise them? Hadn't this splendid idea been given to her for that very purpose?

Late in the afternoon, Bates knocked timidly at her door.

herself again in the make-believe world which her imagination had created for her this day.

She had dinner, also, alone in her room. For one thing, she did not want to face those stern, probing eyes of her foster father, yet, with this new secret in her heart, it had been different about the secret she had shared with Peter. That was her work. This matter concerned her benefactor vitally, and she feared for the effect of his influence upon her work if she saw him now. Besides, she wished to remain alone until her plan had been worked out. So she had a light dinner alone, practiced a series of calisthenics to relieve her taut muscles and resumed work.

She was amazed when the pert little clock on her desk chimed a musical midnight, and increased her effort. The work had to be finished before morning. Inside the house and out, the stillness grew heavier, like the darkness. Muffled traffic sounds from the street were dimmed until there was only an occasional brief whirr-r-r of a passing automobile. A truck rumbled past. Only the little clock kept insisting that the night was passing and trying to remind her every quarter hour how late it was. Three o'clock. Camilla toiled on, steadily.

After a long interval of intense silence, she was startled suddenly by the sound of a stopped motor and soft thudding of quick footsteps in the driveway. Her heart seemed to stop beating and a cold fear gripped her for an instant. Thumps in the rear of the house. She relaxed, laughing shakily to herself. The milkman, of course. It was the silence and weariness and her long concentration that had caused her to be frightened so foolishly.

At four o'clock, she looked up in surprise to discover that the windows were pale grey squares of light. A rose light crept into the room, and presently it was dawn. At six o'clock, she stopped work and surveyed her efforts. Tired as she was, a thrill of pleasure possessed her. She arranged the cards in her portfolio, stripped and slipped into a hot tub. Then she slept for two hours and awoke at the regular time for breakfast.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

TO MY MOTHER

You, who have never faltered, Once through the changeable years, You, who have never failed me, Whether in joys or cares, You, who have soothed each sorrow, Who have assuaged each ache, What can my poor to offer Fit for your heart to take?

Just as your love is flawless, Steadfast and not of earth, It will endow my efforts Out of its own vast wealth; So I dare bring you daily Work of my faulty hand, Certain your love's perfection Ever will understand!

Fred For Average Flock

The amount of grain and manna a flock of birds will eat in a week will vary with the flock and with the season. Some flocks will eat more than others. On the average, however, in a week's time, fifty White Leghorns will eat about fifty pounds of grain and about an equal amount of mash in the fall and winter. In the late spring and summer birds may be encouraged to eat more mash than grain by cutting down the amount of scratch that is fed.

After all, it is favorable commentary on human nature that the year's busiest shopping season is a result of a general desire to find one's own pleasure in somebody else's.

Little Helps For This Week

"My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest." Exodus 33:14.

"Thou wilt show me the path of life, in Thy presence is fullness of joy, at Thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore." Psalm 16:11.

They presence fills my mind with peace, Brightness the thought so dark erewhile, Bids cares and sad foreboding cease, Makes all things amble.

—Charlotte Elliott.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking disquiet in the half which is withheld. Masters, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is He is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nichols Grou.

South Africa Confident

Governor-General's Speech At Opening Of Parliament Optimistic

A new note of confidence and relief at the prosperity arising from the country's healthy financial position was observable as the Union parliament of South Africa opened a new session with the usual ceremonial Observers forecast a certain budget surplus and reduction of taxation accordingly.

The speech from the throne read by Lord Clarendon, governor-general, was couched in an optimistic tone throughout. It referred to the improved agricultural position following the breaking up of the long drought and declared unemployment had eased markedly as farmers who had left their farms to seek employment elsewhere were returning to the land.

The Coalition government under Premier P. B. M. Hertzog and General Jan Smuts, erstwhile leaders of the opposition, has an overwhelming majority in the house following the general elections of last year. Formal fusion of the two main parties in South African politics is nearly complete.

A very stout man was walking on the promenade of a seaside town when he noticed a weighing machine with the notice—"I speak your weight."

He put a penny in the slot and stood on the platform. A voice answered, "One at a time, please!"

"If you try to kiss me, I shall scream!"

"Not with all these people about, surely?"

"Let's find a quieter spot, then!"

37 lbs. OF FAT GONE

No Wonder She Looks Younger!

"How much younger you are looking!" What a pleasure to hear that compliment from your friends! Tips—as this woman did.

"Since I started taking Kruschen Salts," she writes, "I have reduced myself by 37 lbs. I am still going down and hope soon to be normal weight. My health has greatly improved. My friends see such a difference in me now. I look younger, and I have such a fresh look always about my face which I never used to have. I take my usual food, but my first drink in the morning is my little dose of Kruschen Salts, which I will never be without." (Mrs. K.)

The six salts in Kruschen keeps the organs of elimination in perfect trim and so ensure a regular, gentle and natural clearance of all fat-forming food refuse.

A Heavy Responsibility

Watchfulness At All Times Is Required Of Motorists

Motorists seems to require constant admonition to be careful and guard against accidents to children on the streets. This warning is issued frequently by automobile clubs and still the danger exists. "Children should be seen and not hurt," is the slogan adopted by a public safety committee in a recent campaign. While watchfulness may be more urgent during vacations than at other times it is a good practice to observe at all times and in all places. "Many children," the committee emphasizes, "will be found on streets and highways as pedestrians, bicycle riders and at play. Whether playing or using the streets and highways for other purposes, children cannot be expected to display the same mature judgment and safety consciousness as adults. Motorists cannot safely assume that a child will take note of an approaching car and step out of the way. Responsibility for the protection of children in traffic rests largely upon the motorist."

Latest Chemical Product

Synthetic Castor Oil Has Advantages Over Natural Kind

Synthetic castor oil, which is one of the latest products of the chemist's skill, is described as having many advantages over the natural oil.

First of all it can be produced in unlimited quantities at a low and stable price. It has no pronounced coloration.

Because of its chemical composition the synthetic castor oil greatly retards rancidity in soaps. It can also be used in toilet creams and face powders.

MAYOR GEORGE PATTINSON for Re-election.

COUNCILLORS FRED ANTROBUS, FRANK SER-
AK (for re-election), and WILLIAM H. HAYSOM.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES: GEORGE HOPE (for re-election), and JAMES NAYLOR.

The Citizens Slate Campaign Committee ask the solid support of electors for these candidates. The office of Mayor has been efficiently administered by the present holder, and widespread support indicates approval of his impartial policy of the past two years.

TWO COUNCILLORS seeking re-election, Fred Antrobus, well-known business man, and Frank Serak, nominee of the Miners Association, deserve support, both having been conscientious and regular in the discharge of their duties.

The new candidate, WILLIAM H. HAYSOM, is one of the earliest residents of Coleman, served for 15 years as a School Trustee, and has the confidence and support of citizens generally. His record is sufficient proof of his qualifications for office.

For School Trustees: GEORGE HOPE is supported by the Citizens Committee because of his fearless attitude in dealing with all matters affecting the ratepayers' interests. He has stood for a policy of economy without impairing the efficiency of our school system, and supported a reduction of taxation from which all ratepayers benefitted.

JAMES NAYLOR, a resident for many years in the district, receives the endorsement of the Citizens Committee because of many years of active interest in school affairs, and his experience along these lines.

THE CITIZENS COMMITTEE urges solid support for this slate for the following reason: Efforts are being made by fanatical and radical forces to seize control of all Councils and School Boards in Crows Nest Pass towns. The Citizens Committee is out to fight this attempt to disrupt civic government and to prevent unfair and discriminatory practices in favor of those who openly preach revolution.
United support and organized effort is bound to overcome the forces of retrogression, which leave no stone unturned to upset constitutional methods of government.

TO MAKE YOUR VOTES EFFECTIVE, VOTE
SOLIDLY FOR THE ABOVE SLATE. It means your votes will be cast for sane, efficient and economical administration of YOUR BUSINESS, and will ensure that our civic administration will not be tampered with to the detriment of ratepayers of all classes.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Thirty years ago, Feb. 2, 1904, the Cranbrook Herald published the following, which will interest the old-timers:

"Articles were signed on Wednesday night between Jack Curley and Jim Burrows for a 20 round match at Fernie on February 11. The fight is for $500 a side, $250 of which is up as a forfeit. R. W. Wood is the stakeholder and the referee will be either J. Polock or Bill Tuttle. Curley is the heavier of the two men and will fight at 165 pounds, or about ten pounds more than Burrows."

Matches nowadays are not so long,
neither can you get side bets of $500.
Lucky to get $250 gate admissions, or enough to pay the railroad and meal tickets of the fighters.

Mayor Pattinson's Statement to Electors

.....
COLEMAN-MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS
Monday, February 12th, 1934

Vote for George Pattinson for Mayor to ensure Sound Business Administration for another two years.

To the Ratepayers:

I have been urged to stand for re-election as Mayor of Coleman.

My personal inclination has been to drop out of municipal affairs after six years as Councillor and two years as Mayor. During that time I have tried to advance the interests of the ratepayers, irrespective of personal feelings.

The past two years have been particularly trying with their problems arising from unemployment, yet with the aid of the Council I have tried to lighten the burden and provide as much employment as conditions would permit without adding unduly to the expense borne by the ratepayers.

I realize that this coming year will see very little abatement of the pressing problems now confronting us, though there is indication of improvement. There is an important matter which will come before the ratepayers, which will require the thought of all citizens.

I refer to the expiration of the franchise granted by the Town of Coleman to Coleman Light and Water Co., Limited.

This renewal will possibly be subject to considerable discussion before it is renewed, and the ratepayers should consider carefully whom they elect in the forthcoming election to deal with such an important matter.

It is not my desire to seek office. I feel I have given of a fair share of time in past years in civic duty, and it is a responsibility which rests on every citizen to at least take a share in civic government. However, many men and women have again urged me to stand for re-election, thereby indicating their confidence in the principles which have guided me in my administration of local affairs. It is difficult to ignore these representations, and after carefully considering the need for a continued policy such as has been carried on in the past two years, I consented to my name being placed in nomination.

I make no rash promises. There is no necessity to do so, for my record as a representative of the ratepayers is known to all, and they are the judges as to its benefit or otherwise to the town.

Having entered the campaign, I therefore solicit your support and influence, and thanking you in anticipation of the same, I am,

Yours faithfully,
GEORGE PATTINSON.
